

Know yourself. Connect your team. Work better together.

Does your team often debate their opinions with no real solution? Do your meetings become emotionally charged, causing frequent conflict and loss of productivity?

In this 4-hour workshop, we'll unpack the DiSC® style of every member on your team. They will leave with a clear understanding of how their behaviors influence others and vice versa, laying the ground work to build healthier relationships at work.

- Build a stronger team. Based on their DiSC® style, your team will learn to better communicate with those around them while understanding more about themselves.
- Recognize and honor differences. Build an innovative and collaborative work environment as your team learns to appreciate and utilize the strengths of others.
- Communicate with clarity and ease. Run meetings and projects efficiently as your team understands how their DiSC® style compliments and challenges others.
- Plus, get a team comparison report. Get a customized report for each member of your team, allowing them to understand how to work more effectively with their own team.

What makes this Everything DiSC® workshop different from the rest?

Before we walk your team through their behavior assessments, we'll use brain science to help them identify triggered responses in others depending on their DiSC® style. Understanding the "why" behind their colleagues reaction will help build stronger, more effective teams.

Workshop Breakdown

Discovering Your DiSC® Style

We'll start by unpacking the results from each of your team member's assessments. They'll learn about what value they bring to the table and how to adapt to those different from them.

Understanding Others

After your team knows what they bring to the table, they'll explore the strengths of their colleagues. We'll use communication techniques and activities to put what they've learned into practice.

Building Effective Relationships

We'll bring it all together as we dive deeper into how your team's DiSC® style plays a vital role in the relationships they keep at work (and at home!).
